John F. Curry, Former Top Boss of Tammany, Also Turns in Evidence Against Accused District Leader

NEW YORK.—(AP)—J. Richard (Dixie) Davis, 32-year-old "kid mouthpiece" of the Dutch Schultz policy racket, testified Wednesday in the conspiracy trial of District Leader James J. Hines that he had paid Hines approximately $40,000 as a political "fixer" for the mob between October, 1932, and July, 1935.

NEW YORK.—(AP)—A surprise witness deposed from the top rank of Tammany Hall testified late Tuesday in the policy racket trial of James J. Hines that the district leader once sought the removal of certain policemen and fostered the election of William C. Dodge as district attorney.

JAPS REBUFF U. S. Raid on Chinese Airliner "No Affair of U. S.'s" They Indicate

By the Associated Press

Great Britain's ambassador to Nazi Germany flew to Berlin Wednesday armed with new authority, informed persons said, to reiterate vigorously a warning that Britain might not stand aside if war came to central Europe.

The envoy, Sir Neville Henderson, was said to be empowered to deliver the warning personally to Reichsfuhrer if necessary in even stronger terms than it was stated Saturday by Sir John Simon, chancellor of the exchequer.

France, keeping in close touch with Britain, ran into new trouble at home when the union workers' syndicate of the Paris region, which includes most of the capital's organized labor, called upon its members to refuse to accept Tuesday's cabinet decree increasing working hours in the interest of national defense.

Reject U. S. Protest

TOKYO, Japan.—(AP)—The Japanese government Wednesday night rejected on all counts the protest of the United States against the destruction of the Chinese-American airliner near Canton, South China, by Japanese warplanes August 24.

The Japanese reply to the protest delivered August 25 by Ambassador Joseph C. Grew admitted that the attack by Japanese planes continued after the airliner alighted on a small river between Canton and Macao.

Fourteen persons aboard the plane, all Chinese, were believed to have been killed.

A Foreign Office spokesman said Japan was compelled to reject the protest because Tokyo's information differed from that apparently reaching American authorities.

Japan's reply, handed to Grew Wednesday night, disclaimed all guilt in the destruction of the airliner, and in effect denied the incident was any concern of the United States.

Max Factor Dies, a Makeup Expert

He Prepared All the Early Stars for Trial Before Camera

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif.—(AP)—Max Factor, who spent 30 years giving movie stars glamour with his grease paint and wigs, died Tuesday at the age of 61. He had been ill three months, suffering from a liver and kidney ailment.

He came to this country from Russia in 1904 and opened a hair and cosmetic shop in St. Louis. Failing there, he came to Los Angeles, where the infant movie industry was attempting to use stage make-up on its stars' faces.

His early clients included Mary Pickford, Charlie Chaplin, Mabel Normand and Francis X. Bushman. In 1922, he developed panchromatic make-up, now standard, which won for him an award from the Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences.

A Thought

God should be the object of all our desires, the end of all our actions, the principle of all our affections, and the governing power of our whole souls.—Massillon.

CRANIUM CRACKER

Mr. Hill and Mr. Dale were looking over some vacant land they had purchased. Standing talking together, face to face, each then turned and walked away from the other for 50 feet.

Then, turning to the right, Mr. Hill walked 200 feet straight ahead, then turned to the right again and walked 50 feet straight ahead.

In the meantime, Mr. Dale, after walking the first 50 feet, turned to the left and walked 100 feet ahead, then turned to the left again and walked 50 feet ahead, then turned to the right and walked 100 feet ahead.

If all corners turned were exact right angles, where were the men now in relation to each other, and what was the shape of their property?

New Farm Plan to Be Prescott Topic

Minimum Income Association Being Organized Throughout State

A new organization sponsoring an entirely new and different plan for government solution of low income on the cotton farms of the south will be launched at Prescott with a mass meeting of farmers on the courthouse lawn at 3 p. m., and with well-known speakers to explain the purpose and the mechanics of the proposed relief law. It was announced here Wednesday.

The organization, with Dr. M. F. Dickinson of Little Rock, Joe Morrison of Stuttgart and Robert L. Lambert of Conway as incorporators, is to be called the Cotton Farmers' Minimum Income Association. Mr. Lambert said here Wednesday that the work of organization will be pushed rapidly in 66 cotton-growing counties of Arkansas and in 10 Southern and Southwestern states. Date of an organization meeting in Hempstead county will be announced later, he said.

Dr. Dickinson has for many years been identified with farm relief efforts, and prior to last January had been a long-time member of the board of directors of the Federal Land Bank of St. Louis. Mr. Morrison, an attorney at Stuttgart, is a past state commander of the Arkansas department of the American Legion, and gained considerable fame as counsel for rice growers of Eastern Arkansas in a successful fight to win credit privileges from the Federal Land Bank. Lambert is a newspaperman, former executive assistant editor and chief editorial writer of the Tulsa (Okla.) Tribune. During the past year he has spent some time at Sutton, Nevada county, where he was born and reared.

F. D., Hull Discuss Nazi-Czech Crisis

Tremendous Flow of Dispatches Comes in From Envoys Abroad

WASHINGTON.—(AP)—The German-Czech crisis attracted grave attention here Tuesday. Officials took the view that Europe is at a cross-roads, and that a choice may be made soon.

President Roosevelt, returning from Hyde Park, received Secretary of State Hull. For a half-hour they had a general discussion of the international situation. The president declined to make any public pronouncement on Europe's troubles, telling reporters that at a time like the present it was best not to comment.

Prior to going to the White House, Hull conferred with his advisers from the European Division of the department. On his return he called a number of his officials of the department into his office for a conference.

Hull would not comment on the situation or on his talk with the president. It was learned, however, that the State Department is receiving from United States diplomats in the capitals having a connection with the European crisis.

The opinion here is that the forthcoming convention of the Nazi party at Nuremberg may be the climax of the German-Czech crisis. This opens next week. Hitler is scheduled to make a number of speeches. They may be a definite statement of German policy.

It is considered doubtful that the United States will take any action at this time.

SHREVEPORT, La.—(AP)—Officials attempted Wednesday to locate relatives of Clyde Nicholson, 15 believed to be from Hope, Ark., who was injured here Tuesday night when his bicycle collided with an automobile.

Efforts to locate Hope relatives of Clyde Nicholson were unsuccessful up to press-time Wednesday.

WASHINGTON.—(AP)—Chairman Dies, Texas Democrat, of the house committee on un-American activities, said Wednesday that Secretary Perkins had taken the "astonishing action" of "practically dropping" deportation proceedings against Harry Bridges, West Coast CIO leader.

Dies, en route to Texas, telephoned his statement here after the committee had received from Secretary of Labor Perkins a blunt rejection of its demand that Bridges be deported because he is a Communist.

'Cotton Ed' Smith Carolina Winner; M'Adoo Defeated

Smith 30,000 Ahead of Johnston, Endorsed by the President

M'ADOO IS TRAILING

Downey 184,043 Votes, to McAdoo's 150,061 in California

By the Associated Press
Senatorial candidates with the personal backing of President Roosevelt were on the short ends of Democratic primary returns Wednesday from South Carolina and California.

Ellison D. (Cotton Ed) Smith crushed Roosevelt's first effort to unseat a Democratic senator by winning re-nomination in South Carolina. On returns 99 per cent complete the veteran of 30 years service held a margin of 30,000 votes over the New Deal entry, Governor Olin D. Johnston.

Despite repeated presidential aid, Senator Williams Gibbs McAdoo was more than 30,000 votes behind Sheridan Downey in California. Downey, who made a novel pension plan the issue, had 184,043 votes, to 150,061 for McAdoo, with 6,938 of the 12,438 precincts tabulated.

The vote in South Carolina with 146 precincts missing:
Smith 158,896.
Johnston 128,655

F. D. "Expected It"
WASHINGTON.—(AP)—White House aides said Wednesday that President Roosevelt had predicted Tuesday Senator F. D. (Cotton Ed) Smith, of South Carolina, would win the Democratic senatorial nomination by 40,000 votes.

Roosevelt's comment on Smith's success was:
"It often takes a long, long time to bring the past up to the present."

Roosevelt had made it plain he preferred the nomination of Governor Olin D. Johnston, who pledged support of the New Deal, over Smith, who voted against administration measures.

COLUMBIA, S. C.—(AP)—With approximately three-fourths of the precincts reported, Senator E. D. Smith was leading his administration-backed opponent, Gov. Olin D. Johnston, by more than 20,000 votes Tuesday night in his race for re-nomination. Returns from 1,106 precincts out of 1,509 gave:

Smith 158,896
Johnston 128,655

Most of the earlier returns were from rural districts in which Smith, known as "Cotton Ed" from his long-time legislative work in behalf of cotton growers, was conceded to have an advantage.

Johnston supporters placed their hopes on the returns from the industrial centers. As a former textile worker, the governor has championed the cause of the cotton mill workers.

No votes had been reported for State Senator Edgar A. Brown, who withdrew from the race Saturday and threw his support to Smith after campaigning three months as an avowed New Dealer. His name remained on the ticket but election officials had instructions not to count any votes cast for him.

Mayor Burnet R. Maybank of Charleston, and Wyndham M. Manning of Sumter led in the eight-man race for the gubernatorial nomination, with Cole L. Bleasde, former senator and governor, in third place. A run-off primary, due September 13, was regarded as a certainty in this contest.

McAdoo Trailing

SAN FRANCISCO, Calif.—(AP)—Californians rolled up a heavy vote Tuesday to weigh the political future of presidentially favored Senator William Gibbs McAdoo, who was trailing Sheridan Downey, liberal Democrat candidate who pledged allegiance to the Roosevelt program.

Returns from 113 incomplete precincts out of 12,438 for Democratic senator gave:

Downey 184,043
McAdoo 150,061
Mellen 87
Preston 474
Riley 423

Returns from 71 incomplete precincts for governor gave:

Olson 1,257
Dockweiler 1,111

A Prayer

Make me too brave to lie or be unkind,
Make me too understanding, too to mind
The little hurts companions give and friends,
The careless hurts that no one quite intends,
Make me too thoughtful to hurt others
so,
Help me to know
The inmost hearts of those for whom
I care,
Their secret wishes, all the loads they bear,
That I may add my courage to their own,
May I make lonely folks feel less alone,
And happier ones a little happier
yet,
May I forget
What ought to be forgotten and recall
Unfailing all
That ought to be recalled, each kindly thing,
Forgetting what might sting,
To all upon my way
Day after day
Let me be joy, be hope, let my life sing!—Selected.

College Beauty Begins at Home So Prepare Before School Opens

Miss Bette Cooper, above, is a shining example of a college girl who doesn't try to look like a movie star—or like anyone except herself. Chosen Miss America 1937, not even the fame that title brought has given the blond Centenary senior any desire to go in for ultra dramatic makeup or clothes too sophisticated for her years.

the sides of your neck ought to support your head. It just isn't smart to slump, letting shoulders sag and chest cave in. But it's equally unsmart to hold shoulders so stiffly backward that your stomach protrudes and there is a hollow in the middle of your back.

your coat of summer suntan before you leave for school, then be sure to take suntan makeup as well as the lighter powder, rouge and lipstick you'll need later on when you're lily white again. Also, if you are not absolutely expert at applying rouge and lipstick, do practice during the next month.

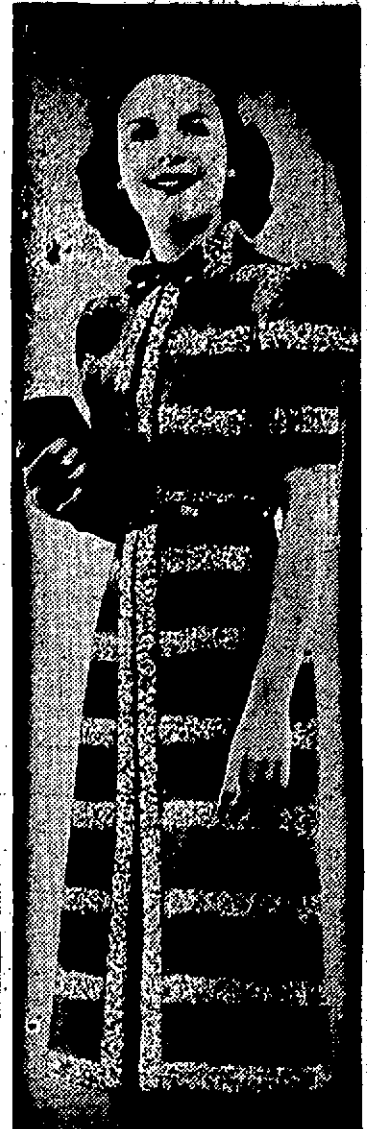

Leave Eyebrows Alone
The girls whom Miss Couch teaches to stand, walk, talk and dress correctly are advised against plucking their eyebrows. Not because she has any prudish prejudice against the practice, but simply because she feels that no woman's face ever is improved by altering the naturally lovely line of the brows.

Unless a girl's eyelashes are quite colorless, Miss Couch would have her eschew mascara except for formal dances and evening parties. The drama teacher would have each student know and understand the latest fashions in beauty and clothes, but she would have her avoid any style that isn't flattering to her individual type. And speaking of individuality, she agrees with other experts that about the silliest thing any girl can do is to try to look like a motion picture star—or, for that matter, like anyone else. Her "be yourself" motto is an ideal one for any college girl to follow.

Although she's well aware of the current trend toward brushed-upward coiffures, Miss Elizabeth Harvey, beautiful blonde student at Centenary College, continues to wear her lovely hair in a long bob. She knows that this hair style happens to be more flattering to her. And she has no intention of wearing an unflattering coiffure simply because it happens to be in the news.

By ALICIA HART NEA Service Staff Writer

This is the time for the girl who is going to college to start thinking about improving her hair, skin, figure and posture. The lovely new clothes and the exciting beauty preparations she has ready to take along with her simply won't make up for bad carriage, a fallow, or, worse yet, blimished complexion, dull hair or an unattractive figure.

Step number one for any prospective coed might very well be an appointment with herself before a full-length mirror. She ought to look at her hair, face and figure from every angle, meanwhile keeping as critical a point of view as possible. During this session, she can think a bit about what mother has been saying on the subject of posture and also what she herself has said about girls who aren't neat and tidy or who use too much makeup or none at all.

First Weeks Strenuous
Naturally, you might as well realize that the first four or five weeks at school are going to be pretty strenuous. If you aren't in excellent physical condition, the strain of meeting so many new people, registering, studying enough so that you'll make a good showing on the mid-term exams and going to dozens of rushing parties is likely to leave you hollow-eyed and either fidgety or pretty lethargic by Thanksgiving.

The sensible procedure, then, is to do your shopping early and in un-hurried fashion, get your trunks packed reasonably early, and, between now and the day you leave, be sure to get at least eight hours sleep every night.

According to Miss Ellen Couch, head of the speech, voice and dramatic department of Centenary College, well known junior college at Hackettstown, N. J., had posture is one of the chief beauty faults of college girls.

Since this is true, how about learning to stand with your chest high, head up, stomach in and hips forward before you get to the campus? There should be no hollow in the center of your spinal column and the muscles at

Starring Stripes

This flattering frock in soft knit wool uses the striped design of its navy and white fabric in clever self-decoration. The zigzag lines of the bias skirt contrast nicely with the horizontal treatment of the bodice. Shoulder tucks, a crocheted wool flower and a narrow leather belt in navy with a white buckle, are interesting details.

STORIES IN STAMPS

St. Peter—Chosen Rock of His Church

EXTREMELY poor and unlearned was Peter, the fisherman of Bethsaida in Galilee. But Peter was alive with the zest of living, keen to the problems of his fellowmen, a good neighbor and withal deeply religious. So he was called from his nets one day to become an apostle of the Lord. Thereby was launched one of the greatest careers of the church.

For Peter became in time the very center and the principle of the church, the head and prince of the apostles, the foremost teacher of the Lord's truth. He filled the vacant apostolic throne, admitted Jews by the thousands into the fold, opened the church to the gentiles in the person of Cornelius, founded, and for a time ruled the church at Antioch, sent Mark to found a church at Alexandria.

Ten years after his ascension, St. Peter went to Rome, then center of the great Roman empire. There, amidst the grandeur of all its temporal powers, he established his Chair, and for the succeeding 25 years labored unceasingly with the help of St. Paul to build up the vast Roman Church.

Peter was crucified at last, by order of Nero, and buried on the Vatican hill. But 260 years later the open triumph of the church climaxed his lifework. The first Christian emperor laid aside his robes of state to turn the soil for the foundation of St. Peter's Church. Shown here is the heroic statue of St. Peter from the Basilica. This is one of the eight air mail values just released by the Vatican depicting symbols of the church.

Hope Softball Commissioners Uphold Umpire Ralph Cornelius

Williams Team to Remain in League

Bruner-Ivory Softball Team Advances in State Tournament Play

League Schedule Will Be Concluded Next Wednesday Night

The Hope Softball Commissioners, meeting Tuesday afternoon to consider a complaint by the Williams Lumber company team against the umpiring of Ralph Cornelius, upheld Umpire Cornelius and ordered him to continue to officiate in all league games.

The management of the Williams team, Pete Brown, had asked for the removal of Cornelius in the balance of the games in which the Williams team is to participate—threatening to quit the league unless he was removed.

The Williams team, however, will continue in the league.

The decision to continue came approximately 45 minutes after the Softball Commissioners announced that Cornelius would be retained. At that time a representative of the Williams team posted an additional $1 forfeit fee and announced that "we're still in the league."

Commissioners' Ruling

Here is what the Softball Commissioners decided at the meeting Tuesday afternoon:

1. That Umpire Cornelius would continue to officiate in all league games—but during the games in which Williams is to play—to work on the bases instead of behind the plate.
2. That teams playing the second game at night will be given only five minutes apiece to warm-up, the second game to begin within 10 minutes after the first contest is over.
3. The Commissioners heard the refusal of Umpire Cornelius to officiate in any of the play-off games which will follow the close of the regular league schedule.
4. The Commissioners then decided to employ two new umpires to handle the series games. Just who they will be, the Commissioners did not announce.

Southern Cafe Quits

Iky Pritchett, manager of the Southern Cafe team, informed The Star Wednesday that he was withdrawing his team from the league because several members were unable to continue, due to sickness, lateness of the season and business requirements which did not give them an opportunity to continue.

Withdrawal of the Southern Cafe team will leave three teams, Geo. W. Robison, Hope Basket company and the Highway Department battling for a place in the Shaughnessy play-off series.

Softball managers are urged to notice the balance of the league schedule which appears in the standings of today's paper. The season will end next Wednesday night.

PITTSBURGH—University athletic officials have decided to play the Pittsburgh and Duquesne football game of October 8 in the morning to allow for the world series, should the Pirates win the National League pennant.

Pity the Caddies

Halted by darkness after 13 hours and 20 minutes, Sue Riley and L. M. (Pie) Pfeffer played 180 holes to claim a world record for mixed marathon golfing in Akron, O. Miss Riley, 31-year-old grocery store keeper, averaged 85 strokes. Women's par was 74.

Is Old Saratoga Slipping?

This picture tells the story of present-day Saratoga. . . A fair patron lectures a policeman for halting her taxi and demanding the driver remove the sign, "We want action this summer—not relief next winter." Taxis paraded with these placards at Saratoga Springs, protesting enforcement of the gambling law. No gaming rooms mean fewer fares to night hot spots.

LID ON GAMBLING THREATENS FAMOUS SPORTS SCENE

By HARRY GRAYSON

NEA Sedvie Staff Correspondent
SARATOGA SPRINGS—Can America's greatest sports scene—Old Saratoga in August—survive without wide-open gambling to draw patrons to the Spa?

Saratoga Springs, the one-month town, is shut up tighter than Philadelphia on Sunday, and the natives and racing people ponder the result.

"Taking gambling out of Saratoga is like removing the elevators from the Empire State Building," says the pessimistic faction.

"Shutting down on gambling has kept nobody out of Saratoga except undesirables," asserts the purist group.

But many declare that the old Saratoga saying, "I'll pay you in August," won't hold good this year.

Meanwhile, dealers, croupiers, stickmen, cacklers, and gambling room hangers-on stand along Broadway's elm-lined curbs moaning low.

Gambling Speeded Up Night Life at Saratoga

And they are not alone in saying, "Saratoga ain't Saratoga no more."

This is a decided off year for the outlying clubs, which are finishing the season with skeleton crews. Without Rock, Reilly's, Newman's Meadowbrook, and other hot spots can't afford orchestras like that of Vincent Lopez and entertainers who command the motion picture retainers of the Yacht Club Boys and Jimmy Durante.

But George H. Bull, president of the Saratoga Association, looks prosperous enough, and says that track attendance is off only a negligible 2 per cent. There were something like 18,000 persons on hand for the running of the historic Travers Stakes.

Enforcement of the law is a break for the bookmakers.

"It used to be," explains the veteran Tim Murn, "that when a player had a bad day at the track he'd attempt to get himself well in gaming rooms at night. Now he tries to get even at the track the following day."

Horse Puts Everybody on Common Level at Spa

The population of Saratoga Springs, a sleepy Adirondacks village 11 months of the year, jumps from 13,000 to 65,000 in late July and early August.

Society folk check in from Southampton, Newport, the Berkshires Hills, Narragansett, Bar Harbor, and far away Coronado.

Society, turf, and the gambling element gave the Spa a curious mixture, with the horse putting everyone on a common level.

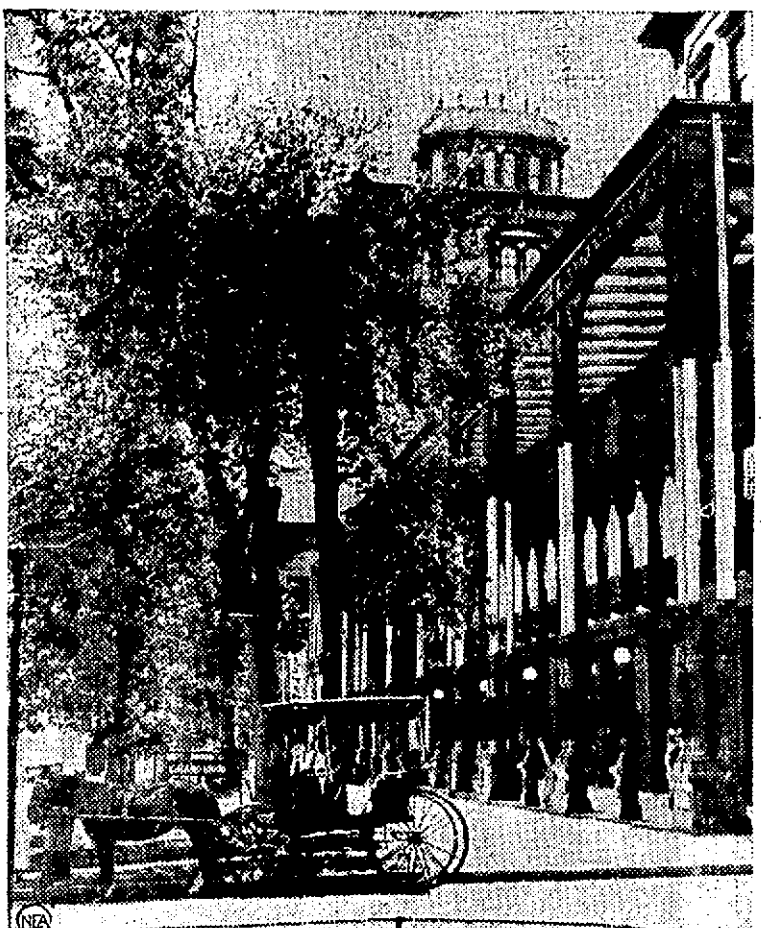

The more violent dissenters against the gambling shut-down to date have been the taxicab drivers. They paraded with placards on their cars reading, "We want action this summer; not relief this winter." Police broke up the procession, and each driver was fined $5. No gambling means fewer fares to night clubs.

Medicinal as Well as Social and Trif Center

More conservative residents of Saratoga Springs point to the state's $10,000,000 investment in seven monumental buildings around its famous healing springs. They contend the resort will continue to prosper on a sounder basis.

No one is exactly certain as to what put the lid on America's Monte Carlo.

The popular belief is that the crack-down was due to a break between James A. Leary, veteran leader of Saratoga county's degenerate Republicans, and round-faced young Alfred L. Simon, who beat Leary's candidate for district attorney. Some trace the action to Dewey in New York, others to the fact that Dr. Arthur J. Leonard, a Democrat, was defeated for commissioner of public safety last fall by Jos-

Sleepy, pre-Civil War Saratoga. . . Looking down elm-lined Broadway in front of the famous Grand Union hotel, where horse and buggy still don't seem out of place.

Pirates Win First Game From Giants

PITTSBURGH.—(AP)—The Pirates, behind Right-Hander Jim Tobin's eighth five-hit pitching job of the year, rode rough shod over the crippled New York Giants Tuesday, battering their way to a 7-1 triumph that increased their margin over the Terrers to six and a half games.

Cus Suhr, who has been benched several times this season for failing to hit, provided the main punch. He had a perfect day at bat with a walk, a single, double and triple, and drove in five runs with his two extra-base clouts.

"Dick Coffman, making his first start for the Giants since October 2, 1937 bore the brunt of the Pittsburgh assault. He gave up eight of the thirteen hits and six of their runs before retiring in favor of a pinch-hitter in the seventh.

The Giants were first to score, Joe Moore getting Tobin with a two-bagger to right and scoring all the way from second on a wild pitch, but the Buccaneers put the game on ice before the inning was over.

With one out, Lloyd Waner singled and Arky Vaughan and Johnny Rizzo drew passes to fill the bases. Suhr cleared them a moment later with a rousing three-bagger off the right field screen.

Waner also started each of the two other Pittsburgh scoring innings. In the sixth he led off with a single. Coffman retired the next two batters, but then Rizzo singled, Suhr doubled, again off the screen, and Pep Young singled in quick succession for three more tallies and a 6-1 lead.

The Pirates got their final run in the eighth off Hy Vandenberg on suc-

George H. Bull, president of Saratoga Racing Association, appears prosperous enough despite gambling ban at the Spa.

Little Rock to Conclude Home Schedule Wednesday Night

LITTLE ROCK.—(AP)—Kola Sharpe pitched the Little Rock Travelers to a 6-1 decision over the league leading Atlanta Crackers Tuesday night, evening the series at one-all.

The Travelers bunched their hits in the early innings to build up a four-run lead before the visitors broke through. Sharpe ran into trouble in the fifth and sixth when the Crackers bunched six of their nine hits but nice support by his teammates enabled him to get out with only one run scored.

Little Rock concludes its home schedule Wednesday night in the third and final game of the series against Atlanta.

Sports of All Sorts

Strange Orders

CINCINNATI—When Willard Herschberger, Reds' catcher, appeared in his first pro game with El Paso in 1930, his manager ordered him to strike out because his team had a slight lead in the sixth inning and a sandstorm was brewing.

Miniature Golf Back

TULSA—Miniature golf seems to be making a comeback in Tulsa this summer. One course, an 18-hole affair with a number of hazards to make the good putter bear down, has attracted large crowds.

That Name Again

NEW YORK—Alex Wojciechowicz, former Fordham All-American, became the father of Alexander Franklin Wojciechowicz, Jr., who weighed seven pounds at birth.

Early Redskins

BALLSTON, Va.—Turk Edwards, tackle, and Ernie Pinkert, blocking back, are the only two surviving members of the original Washington Redskins, organized in 1932. The National League champions are training here.

Hawks Use College Link

CHICAGO—The world champion Chicago Blackhawks will begin training, October 1, on the University of Illinois rink at Champagne.

Strikes Him Out

CHICAGO—George Myatt, New York Giants' new third baseman and base-stealer de luxe, admits his wife has struck him out without giving him a good look at the ball. Mrs. Myatt, the former Georgia Smith, is a star pitcher in San Diego softball ranks. She has won 22 of 24 games this summer.

"She's a pretty good bowler, too," says George definitely, "and can lick me at tennis, but I still hit a ball farther than she can."

They Stay Hit

NEW YORK—Jack Dempsey says Al Hostak, new middleweight champion, hits harder than any man in the ring with the exception of Joe Louis.

Eagles Get Wings

PHILADELPHIA—Bert Bell, owner-coach of the Philadelphia Eagles, is indebted to Texas for supplying a great part of his 1938 football club. No less than 12 men from the Lone Star state are listed on the roster.

University of Texas leads with four—Bill Hughes, Ray Keeling, Will Tullos, and Jay Arnold. McMurray College sent Hershel Stockton and Bob Anthony.

Joe Carter hails from Southern Methodist. Drew Ellis comes from Texas Christian. Maurice Harper played for Austin College. Hershel Ramsey starred for Texas Tech. Bob Masters is a product of Baylor. Elwood Dow performed for West Texas

Links Hitch-Hiker

Players in the national public links golf tournament used all manner of transportation to get to Cleveland's Highland Park. John Mitchell hags his thumb in illustrating how he hitch-hiked from Hartford, Conn.

State Teachers

Another Tubbs
CHICAGO—Charley Tubbs, 200-pound fullback getting a tryout with the Chicago Bears, is a cousin of Irl Tubbs, Iowa coach.

Final Touch

BOSTON—Boze Berger completed the "ruin" of the White Sox when he was benched by a spike injury. Berger was the only member of the club who had not missed a game.

CHICAGO—Jack Elder, former Notre Dame halfback, played a hunch to win the daily double at Washington Park. Elder, who wore No. 84 when he was scoring touchdowns for the Irish, picked numbers eight and four, and was rewarded with a tidy sum when his horses came through.

Ball Players Softies

BOSTON—Win Green, Boston Red Sox trainer who served in the same capacity for the Boston Bruins several years ago, says ball players make more fuss about a hangnail than hockey players do about a broken leg.

Aid For Baugh

BALLSTON, Va.—The champion Washington Redskins will have two couchpaw passers on hand to help Sammy Baugh this fall. They are Roy Campbell of Western Maryland and Jim Abbott of Elon.

NEW YORK—Roberto Cavanaugh, 23-year-old Argentine polo star of Irish descent, is looking for bets on who can hit a golf ball farther—a golfer with a golf club, or a mounted polo player with a mallet.

Few pros in the district, however, would care to settle the issue with him. Although 300 yards is an exceptional wallop for a golfer, Cavanaugh has banked a ball off the tee 320 yards with his mallet.

Ogburn School of Dance to Reopen

Classes to Resume September 15—Open-House Program September 8

Beginning its third year in Hope, the Ogburn School of Dancing will reopen for classes September 15, with studios located at 511 South Main street. The studio rooms have been enlarged and new features of interest have been added.

Mrs. Ogburn, entering on her 11th year of teaching, stresses the development of poise and personality in her pupils. Physical health, strength and grace are aimed at through the special ballet exercises that she believes every child should have. All forms of the dance and related arts are taught, including tap, ballet, toe, acrobatic modern singing and dramatics. Personality singing has proven a popular feature and is taught with the dance subjects at no extra cost, or may be taken separately for a moderate fee.

Unusual opportunities are afforded the students to appear in regular recitals, on numerous programs and in an annual public Revue at the theater. On the afternoon of September 8, the studio will hold its annual open house, to which the public is invited. Short programs will be given on the studio stage at 4:30 and again at 5:30. Early in December, students will stage a benefit revue for St. Mark's Church Auxiliary. The Ogburn Orchestra will furnish music for these and other similar events.

Colonial Days

Colonial days are being reviewed in Hempstead county farm homes by way of the quilting needle.

There is nothing more appropriate than the use of Colonial or early American quilts for bedspreads, and they are invaluable in creating an early American atmosphere in the home, suggests Miss Sybil D. Bates, extension specialist in home industries, University of Arkansas College of Agriculture.

No matter what the pattern of the piecing may be, the intricacy of the design and fineness of the quilting is the feature that enhances the beauty and value of the quilt, she points out. Plain material cut to the size 91 by 108 inches, padded with 1 to 1½ pounds of cotton, and quilted very fine in an intricate design makes a handsome spread.

Applied quilts are also popular in early American settings, but none are so popular as the "Irish Chain" or the "Rising Sun" quilted in the "Princess Feather" design.

The "Old Maid Puzzle," the "Tulip Basket," the "Crown of Thorns" and many others are listed by Miss Bates among old quilt patterns that are early American in character.

Going Back to School With Class

A dirndl dress, left, of plaid gingham, has white linen collar and cuffs with embroidered edgings. Bias bands on the bodice give a bolero effect. The bow knots are of self material. The sailor dress right, is of navy blue wool with a red silk tie and white brain trimming.

Little girls who have frocks as pretty as these never mind going back to school. At the left is a princess model of wine flannel with a white embroidered linen collar. The jacket dress, right, has a velvet bolero jacket.

By MARIAN YOUNG

NEW YORK — Chic little cotton dirndls, velveteen, wool and spun rayon jumper dresses, washable flannel princess frocks, plaid skirted jacket outfits—these are the types of dresses in which smart little girls will go back to school.

Your small daughter's dirndl dresses will be in checked or plaid gingham, printed percale and, for later on, in lowered wool challis. Her plaid wool skirt and white shirt probably will be accompanied by a velvet bolero. At least one of her princess frocks will be of the softest, non-scratchy flannel imaginable and will be as simple to wash and press as any cotton number in her wardrobe.

Her coat will be a classic, double-breasted reefer. This is a big trend for children's coats. And you might consider a bold herringbone wool with bright nubs. There are box coats, too, of course, and a few bloused back varieties for slightly older girls.

Naturally, the old saying, the shorter her dress, the smarter the child, still is true. And full-length stockings are something she just doesn't wear at all. At least not until the weather gets very cold. The newest hats for children include poke shapes, off-the-face rolls and higher crowned versions. Other accessories that little girls like include small handbags that match belts or shoes or bags and miniature handkerchiefs with first names embroidered on in bright colors.

Collegiate Sweater and Skirt

New looking are outfits which include sweaters with skirts dyed to match. For winter months, the school girl's wardrobe, like her older coed sister's, can very well be built on the sweater and skirt theme. One particularly lovely ensemble includes a plaid skirt with teal blue predominating color and a ovely crew neck sweater in a warm shade of beige with teal blue edging at neckline, sleeves and around the bottom.

A pretty plaid gingham dirndl has hand-embroidered, white linen collar, cuffs and pocket edgings and, on the bodice, bias bands which simulate the lines of a bolero jacket. Another dirndl, in green wool challis with pink and yellow flowers, has a small

State Laws Brew New Headaches

State After State Enacts Laws to Shut Out Competitive Liquor

By PRESTON GROVER
WASHINGTON — From a liquor standpoint this country is turning into a legislative Balkans.

States array themselves against state, enacting first one law and then another to shut out competitive liquor. Already it is down to a point where various states seem to be in need of reciprocal trade treaties.

It all started with the 21st amendment to the Constitution which provides, as a protection to the dry states, that no liquor could be imported into a state in violation of its laws. That sounded just fine to all concerned until California (these native sons are enterprising) enacted a law imposing a $500 tax on wholesalers bringing beer into the state from other states.

In effect it was simply a tariff to protect California beer brewers. Evidently nobody had thought of that possibility arising out of the 21st amendment. But it did. And the Supreme Court said the act was strictly in accord with the last amendment, even if it did upset that earlier part of the Constitution which prohibited any state setting up barriers to commerce among the states.

Follow The Leader

California, with plenty of wine to sell, soon saw a warning light and repealed its law, but the seed was sown. Other states began taking it up. Indiana imposed a $1,500 special tax on wholesalers who imported out-of-state beer, and Minnesota added some flourishes by prohibiting import of hard liquor unless it was either a patented

McAdoo failed to draw a clear-cut new deal issue because Downey, powerful "liberal" candidate for the Democratic senatorial nomination, pledged allegiance to the Roosevelt program, and John W. Preston, the "no rubber stamp" contender, said he would support the president's "humanitarian" projects.

Only one senatorial contender, James W. Mellen, ran as an anti-New Dealer.

brand or had been re-processed in Minnesota after importation.

The Minnesota law came quickly to the Supreme Court and brought out one of the strangest collections the Supreme Court has heard in days. The following quotations are not exact but the substance is there:

"Minnesota argues," said the state attorney general in effect, "that it may impose any terms it chooses upon the importation of liquor and it will be constitutional under the 21st amendment."

"Do you mean," asked Chief Justice Hughes in effect, "that if Minnesota says that out-of-state liquor may be imported only by people who wear a certain kind of clothes, such legislation will be valid? Let me put it another way. Do you mean that the state could enact a law permitting importation of liquor only by those who voted a certain way, and it would be valid?"

The state attorney general thought that one over for a long moment, then answered: "Yes."

And what happened? The Supreme Court upheld the Minnesota law.

Confusion Confounded

But the thing has now become even more entangled. Missouri evidently tired of having its liquor shut out of state after state. Missouri makes several prominent brands of beer. So it said, in effect, that any state which enacts legislation discriminating against Missouri liquor can't ship its liquor into Missouri. Michigan enacted a similar law.

Immediately five prominent distilleries, including the big Schenley outfit, brought suit against Missouri to test the constitutionality of such a law. The Indianapolis Brewing Company brought similar suit against the Michigan liquor commission.

Lower federal courts have upheld both the Michigan and Missouri acts and the liquor makers have appealed to the Supreme Court.
